

Full moon message for August 2010 from Jeshua and Mary Magdalene

Good evening, this is Carolyn Evers and Dr. Richard Presser and we're bringing in the full moon message for the month of August, which is August 24th, and Jeshua is here and Richard will take his message.

And Jeshua is saying;

This full moon comes at something of a crossroads you could say, a crossroads because it is a time of transition; a time of transition between the time when the dark have been able to influence what has been coming forth upon your planet, not just interfering with life upon your planet by those of the light, but they have been indeed able to interfere with much of what we have endeavoured to bring forth energetically speaking onto your planet. This has created much consternation on the side of the light, because we moved forward with the expectation that all would be as we had understood it to be, only to find that many of the energies that we had sought to bring to the planet had been interfered with, even when we believed that interference had ended; and what I can tell you, finally is that the energies coming to your planet from this full moon forward will be free and clear of such interference because the reign of those who have sought to interfere, not just upon your planet but indeed throughout the cosmos and indeed beyond, has been brought to an end.

I do not bring you these words lightly. There have been other messages before this saying that the interference of the dark had been ended, only to find that it was not the case. There have been many false starts, you could say on this journey, but I say these words with a great deal of confidence because there have been many who have been examining in great detail the ways in which the dark have eluded all the efforts to end their reign, and I will simply say to you that that has now been achieved.

And so to the energies for this full moon. You are in a time when you are still to some degree under the influence of the Grand Cross, which peaked towards the end of July and so it is still influencing these events, these energy gateways, you could say. That remains the case for this full moon. In addition to that, there is great power coming to your planet to ensure that the process of rejuvenation comes forth as it has been long planned. Some of you are aware that this is a critical step in the preparation for the Ascension process which begins with those energies of the solstice of December 2012, and it truly is a critical step for many reasons. One is that it will act as a trigger to awaken many of humanity who are completely unaware of what is unfolding in a few short years and as rejuvenation begins to come forth upon your planet, it will be something that is undeniable. So it has been crafted as perhaps the most powerful warning, the most powerful trigger of what is coming forth.

People will begin to rejuvenate in response to the rejuvenation command quite soon across the planet, in small numbers initially, but scattered across the planet. They have been strategically placed so that the alert, you could say occurs in many places quite close together and this will create much consternation, because your science and indeed any of the belief systems upon your planet do not cater for this change. In addition to this alert, it also is a key step, as I said in the preparation for what awaits you all beginning with that solstice of December 2012. It is necessary to undertake an internal transformation of the physical body, so it is able to withstand those energies, to undertake the transformation, the reawakening of the DNA at the end of December 2012 and then to pass through that energy transition, you could call it at Ascension at the March equinox of 2013. And so this truly is a critical step and it is a step that those of the dark have worked extremely hard to prevent coming forth; but that interference is now at an end.

So this wondrous change will begin to be expressed upon your planet and the energies for this full moon, which will begin to arrive within the next 24 hours or so, this being the 20th that this message is being taken, and as you know the energies begin to come into play some three days before and continue some three days after a gateway. These energies will begin to arrive on the 21st US time.

So this is my message to you. This is a profound step, one that we thought we had ushered in before now, but one which is now being ushered in by these energies of this full moon. And so it is.

Carolyn – The next one to come into my awareness, who will be giving another message, is Mary Magdalene. But before she follows up her beloved's message, she wants me to discuss a little her appearance. We've done this other times, other places but she wants me to do it again, because there are different people reading these messages and there is a subconscious connection to me, she says, and she wishes to awaken that.

There are many of you who read these messages who have shared that lifetime with Jeshua and myself and during those days, these souls lived in many different places. Of course, you know of Galilee which is perhaps the first place one thinks of when they think of where we lived, but we have lines or traces, or you might say a journey through Syria, where there were connections to my family, to Egypt where we went and studied. Yes, my beloved and I studied in the pyramid. We learned of those mysteries. You also, some of you at least, are aware of our journey to France. There were some sad times there and some glorious times; and not many of you know we were at Rennes le Chateau. There was a connection there energetically to an Isis Temple, built before the current buildings there; and I was buried there and my beloved was buried there. It was the basis for the persecution of my family, because the church did not want people to know that we lived a natural life, we died a natural life.

We studied very hard to bring in the abilities that we had; and you will reach these abilities also. There are so many other links. My family had many passages through Britain, through India, the Himalayas; many places. And so as you can imagine, all of these locations had souls that were aware of us, that had traditions who connected with us and yes, you are on planet Earth now. There were organizations that protected my family. You are on the Earth now. There were those who recorded so much of our messages. Some were lost, some were destroyed, some are still there, and you are on the Earth now; and I say these things because I want you to think of those days. I want you to meditate on it, and I want Carolyn to give you a description of my image in those days, so that you might remember. Remembering is extraordinarily important right now, because it is in those memories that many of your abilities will be reawakened. I want you to remember who you are, where you came from and what lies before you, because we taught this also. We taught of this time now, because we could see into the future. This was not difficult for Essenes. We worked very hard at achieving our abilities; and so I stand here before you and I ask Carolyn to again describe my appearance.

And Mary Magdalene stands in front of me. First of all, I would like to say she moves with such grace. It's not always discussed, but she was a very educated young lady, not only in spiritual aspects but in mental aspects. She was a full Master. She studied all the astrological symbolism, energetically and in a very profound manner; how it affected the human psyche, the different planets. So it would cover what you would consider astrology today, numerology. She had a great background and history, and so that expressed itself in this grace, the manner in which she carried herself, not only from her education but from her family connections in Syria. She was of a royal house there and she was trained from the very beginning to understand her position.

She dressed well. She loved silk; the way it took the dye, the way the silk laid in the hand, we would call it; the rustling of it, the gentleness of it. She didn't love it because it was an expensive commodity, but she loved it for the commodity itself. There were camel trains that came through different places where she lived and she had access to silk, and she had several colours that she loved and one of them she is wearing now. You might consider it in the family of yellow except it's not exactly yellow, it's not exactly saffron, it has a hint of orange, there's a hint of the brown, and so when the silk was woven, the warp and the weft was used in two different colours and so as she moved, you could see this silky, it's hard to explain it, if you've seen silk woven in two different colours, you understand what I mean, different ways that you stand, different hue comes forth, and there was a melody about it. When she moved, how the colours of the silk brought forth the colours, and she liked this colour because it was a colour that in essence reminded her of the solar plexus. She'll speak more of the solar plexus later, but it was such an important part of the physical body; the determination comes from there. And drape of the cloth over her shoulder, around her arm, just delicate and beautifully set. And so she has like a creamy white undergarment, you would call it a dress, and this other cloth in these beautiful colours I just described formed like, you might say somewhat of a cape, came around her arms, and there was a piece of it that they would roll over the back of their head; protection from the sun, from the breezes.

And as I look up at her hair, she had very, I don't know how to describe it, it was I guess would say, thick and glossy, and an amber colour, moving more towards the darker amber than the lighter amber, and so there were threads in her hair that reminded you of new wine. As I said there was a sheen there, and the darker shades glistened interactively with what I call new wine; very unusual colour, beautiful colour.

So many people think of this family as being Semitic and carrying the Semitic genes, but they were not. They were carrying more the genes of some of the Mediterranean stock. Her face was a little olive, but carried more of the creamy lusciousness of a fair faced lady, but there wasn't the fairness of the Nordic, but it had the warmth and the glow of the Mediterranean. And I look into her eyes and at least what I am seeing would surprise you, because they're this beautiful green, and it went so well with the colour of her hair. Very expressive eyes, high cheekbones, this lusciousness of her lips; and so when you looked at her there was this gracefulness, beauty comes to mind, but yet it was not a worldly beauty, it was a spiritual beauty because her kindness and her compassion shone through. You knew this was a woman of stature, you knew she was a woman of grace, and if you met the pair of them together, you would never forget because they made that kind of impression upon you. You knew they were special.

So this description is to jar your memory; not so much that I wish to proclaim what I looked like, but to jar your memory. It is time for you to remember who you are, what you are, what you came to do because when my beloved and myself were here all those years ago, we set the pattern, we set a program in place that is pointing to what you call Ascension. Did we understand that the planet would grow spiritually in leaps and bounds? Of course we did and it was because we were in Atlantis. We understood the fall in consciousness, and when my beloved Jeshua came, we had to make pathways of light from this dimension that we were in, to the upper dimensions, and we did that; and we are here again, calling you, calling you my beloveds. And this is Mary Magdalene, in love, calling you.

Blessings, Joy, Love and Peace.
