

Increased energies from sunspots – Jeshua and Mother Mary

Jeshua- Feb 10th, 2010

As you know, there have been great energies coming to the planet via the various gateways that we have so often discussed and as we enter 2010, the rate at which energy is being sent forth has increased dramatically. And as you also know, the sun is the major source of these energies, the major key gateway, you could say, by which these energies ultimately flow to the planet, and so as part of this increased energy flow to the planet, you will see a significant increase in sunspot activity and this will continue from this moment forth until the end of 2012.

Many have said that they expected a heightened level of sunspot activity in this cycle and indeed that is so and yet it has been very quiet up until now, apart from when key individual sunspots have come forth to bring forth the energies at particular alignments as has been reported upon at the 2012 timeline page –

http://www.the2012countdown.com/The\_2012\_Time\_Line.php - however this pattern, if you will

X-ray Solar Flares
6-hr max: C2 1515 UT Feb10
24-hr: C2 1515 UT Feb10
explanation | more data
Updated: Today at: 1645 UT

Daily Sun: 10 Feb. 10

Sunspot 1045 is fading, but it still has a "beta-gamma-delta" magnetic field that harbors energy for X-class solar flares. Image credit: SOHO/MDI

Sunspot number: 63
What is the sunspot number?
Updated 09 Feb 2010

Spotless Days
Current Stretch: 0 days
2010 total: 2 days (5%)
2009 total: 260 days (71%)
Since 2004: 772 days
Typical Solar Min: 485 days
explanation | more info
Updated 09 Feb 2010

The Radio Sun
10.7 cm flux: 91 sfu
explanation | more data
Updated 09 Feb 2010

Current Auroral Oval:

OLD TEACHINGS, BEWARE: The Solar Dynamics Observatory (SDO) is set to launch from the Kennedy Space Center on Feb. 10th at 10:26 am EST. Researchers expect SDO to rewrite the textbooks on solar physics using a battery of advanced cameras, telescopes, and magnetic sensors--some of which can even peer beneath the sun's stormy surface. This is such a big event, the staff of spaceweather.com has traveled 3000 miles to witness the launch. Stay tuned for first-hand reports.

GEOMAGNETIC STORM WARNING: Over the past few days, active sunspot 1045 has hurled a series of coronal mass ejections (CMEs) toward Earth. These are not the kind of major CMEs that will spark auroras over, say, Florida, but they could spark some very nice lights around the Arctic Circle. (continued below)

Image credit: Harald Krefthing of Skibottselva, Norway (Feb. 9, 2010)

High-latitude sky watchers should be alert for Northern Lights on Feb. 10th and 11th when the CMEs are expected to arrive. NOAA forecasters estimate a 30% chance of some geomagnetic activity and as much as a 5% chance of a major geomagnetic storm over the next 48 hours.

is changing and as of this date there are currently three numbered sunspots active; 1045, 1046 and 1047, with 1045 sending forth a significant number of solar flares and sending great energy to the planet. And so expect to see, as I said a significant increase in solar flares between now and the end of 2012 as these energies continue to accelerate.

And this does not mean that the major gateways that have been used in the past, such as the equinoxes and solstices and eclipses and full moons will not be used, because they will. They will be used for key energies and in many ways act as key markers as they have done in the past. So this is simply reflecting, if you like, a heightened level of activity in energy flow into the planet as we move closer to 2012, the end thereof, and the increased level of preparation that is necessary for humanity and for planet Earth as we approach that date. As you know, it is less than three years and so much needs to be done. You could say that, in a physical sense, very little work has been done up until now in terms of things which are visible, but that is about to change and these energies come forth to support this change; and so I mention this to put on record, to alert you to this changing pattern, and for you to know that it is all planned. It is no accident that this increased solar flare and sunspot activity has begun. And so it is.

Mother Mary

And Mother Mary also wishes to comment upon this changing sunspot activity and she is saying:

This message from my son is an important one because it flags a key shift in the activity associated with the preparation for the end of 2012 and beyond. It marks the transition from those activities which have been undertaken in background, you could say, and those activities which will be visible in your physical dimension. Some of this activity will be associated with the planet and that activity will be in terms of increased volcanic activity, increased earthquake activity, increased weather activity and these are the actions of the planet itself as it clears its own karmic energies, you could say, as it prepares itself for its own Ascension in early 2013.

And it also concerns humanity as the preparation for the Ascension process, which begins with those energies at the end of 2012, begins in earnest. The changes will soon become visible as individuals begin to rejuvenate. It is a change that will be difficult to ignore and in truth all individuals who choose to participate in Ascension will rejuvenate; and this is not simply a matter of returning to the state that your physical body had at the time of the age that you choose. It is indeed more than that. It is about perfecting the human body at that age that you choose because, in truth all of you have come into this life with karmic energies that needed to be cleared and those karmic energies cause certain expressions in the physical body; certain imperfections, you could say, and so really what this rejuvenation is about as much as anything else is about achieving perfection in this level of consciousness.

And so apart from rejuvenating the physical body, it will also involve perfecting the human physical body and this includes individuals who might have even been born with missing abilities. There are those who are totally deaf because they are missing physical attributes of the ear. Those individuals who choose this path will be able to hear normally; so I give you this example. There are many others. So I wanted to come forth and give you this understanding because many of these changes will be seen as being miraculous, and in a sense they are, and yet as you grow in your understanding of the true nature of humanity and the true nature of consciousness itself, these will seem far more natural than they do today for humanity; and so I simply wanted to add this to the message from my son. And so it is.