

May 2010 full moon message from Jeshua and Mother Mary

Today is Tuesday, 25 May and we are now within the window of the energies of the May full moon, and Jeshua and Mother Mary have come forth to speak to us about the energies of this full moon and Jeshua is here, and he is saying;

This full moon is a very powerful full moon and we have said this many times in recent months, and this does not detract in any way from the power of this particular full moon. This full moon, as you would realise precedes the June solstice and this June solstice is truly a watershed for the preparation for the end of 2012. And whilst I do not wish to speak about that solstice, I do want to make the connection between that solstice and this full moon, because this full moon is very much about assisting with the preparation for what will come forth at that solstice.

So the energies of this full moon are, you could say in part about preparing for what will come forth at that solstice, and the energies of this full moon are in and of themselves quite transformational. There have been several occasions over the last few years that have been marked by the coming forth in that moment of the Christ Consciousness energies. Many associate that name Christ with me when I came forth some 2,000 years ago, but really that term rather more applied to the state of consciousness that I achieved and did not truly apply specifically to me. It is an energetic state, you could say and the energies that came forth on those occasions and indeed are coming forth with this full moon reflect that state of consciousness.

It is a state of consciousness that every human being is capable of achieving and I don't wish to get deeply into that conversation here. I simply wish to mention that the Christ Consciousness energies are coming forth with this full moon, and this is very important because, in truth it is these energies that are the energies that all of humanity in their truly creative, truly manifesting abilities will utilise. And they are also energies which those beings of the dark simply cannot, you could say put up with and so the coming forth of these energies with this full moon is, as I said very powerful and very much connected to what will unfold at the solstice. I will say that part of what will unfold at the solstice is a far greater intensification of these Christ Consciousness energies and that will transform many things on your planet.

But the energies which are coming forth at this full moon indeed are those same energies and so they are, in a sense closing some doors for the dark and opening some doors for humanity, and you will see as a result of these energies some quite significant changes in a number of areas and I'm not going to spell those out. I simply suggest you observe and note what changes following this full moon. So these are powerful energies, very special energies, very precious energies you could say, which have not been present in an ongoing sense upon the planet for many thousands of years. Indeed, they have not been present since The Fall in Atlantis and those windows that I referred to, like for example the Harmonic Convergence, where those energies came forth were, you could say moments in time where those energies came forth for specific purposes. But what is happening with this full moon is the return of these energies on an ongoing basis; not as powerfully as they will be from the solstice, but their return with this full moon is not just a passing thing. They are arriving with this full moon and indeed have been building up as the phases of this moon have progressed from the new moon, but they are returning and will remain even after the window of this full moon fades.

So I mention this to you, so you have some understanding of the import of this moment. And so it is.

Mother Mary also wishes to discuss this full moon, and this is what she is saying;

We reside in a place where we can see into the cosmos. Actually, our view of the cosmos is more precise, more delineated than some of the hard particles on your planet. On your planet, we are able to see into the NOW, and what I mean by that is that subtle body that you carry, some call the etheric body. There's more spaces in between those particles and they're not as condensed as the physical body, so we see that. We see the energy and the particles of that energy, the vibrations also surrounding mountains and flowers, animals.

Some of these denser figures we do not see precisely as you see them. Part of it is the distance and another reason is they are so dense. Details hide from our perception. I tell you this in the beginning to give you some concept of what we can perceive. We perceive much but there are incidents where our sight is more precise. Energy as it comes from the cosmos to Earth is one of those areas where our sight is more precise, and I mention that because it gives you some aspect, some understanding of why we come forth every month and address the energies of the month. It's like a ship in the sense that the prow of the ship is going to determine how it moves through the waters, and these energies as they come have a great influence on the planet, on humanity because it sets up a directional force.

Everything in the cosmos is so integrated with another aspect. It's like a perfectly formed puzzle, where each piece interlocks into another piece. Even though you might think the moon or the sun or the stars are alone, they might seem that way but energetically they are all locked into other creations in the sense that they all move with one another on some level. Nothing stands alone and even though energies or creative processes might seem such a long distance from you, they truly are not, and it is the force of energy and how that energy is imprinted that determines to a great extent how the Earth is influenced. The new ideas, so to speak will be brought to Earth based upon how these full moon energies are imprinted.

Now that's the final point, but if we focus before we get to that final point, the influences open out, covering a wide area, and we're able to see this. We are able to see how energies come forth from the Creator, and how at times they come to your planet in a direct line and at other times have to go through many gateways to get there. And we can monitor this. It's why the messages that we give each month are so important, because if you understand the message and you listen to it, it's like the context of what is to come. It's the platform of new ideas. It is the steering mechanism of the ship that we talked about earlier, and when you read these messages, if you put down for instance one word as to what that energy means, you get a very good idea as to the direction that you and the planet is moving.

And it's like stair steps. Each month it's like a step and you move up and down the ladder of steps and you can see very clearly the direction in which you are moving. And I know sometimes it's very difficult when you live on Earth to become focused outwardly, covering a large area because in the third dimension that you're living in presently, things are so focused in that small dot, so to speak that sometimes it's really hard to see the big picture; and it's why my son and I are so determined to come every month and give you these messages. So when you read them or hear them, look beyond the words, look at the overall picture, the direction in which you are going because that's important.

And my friends, each month you can see that what is happening on planet Earth and other places are becoming more focused, more intense. It's like the changing seasons in a year, if you want to think of the spiritual as changes, because it truly is. Humanity sometimes seems like they're caught up in a dream and it is the nature of the third dimension in the sense that you are looking on your level. You're not seeing beyond your level many times, certainly not energetically, and the truth of the matter is that how things unfold on your planet and in your lives is really determined by the energy that comes in to the planet every month. It's hard for you sometimes to make that connection.

The energy that comes in might even influence social events, political events, events in your own life. I'm not saying that it's predetermined, but it offers opportunities. You have an opportunity presented to you and it depends upon how you act upon it what actually comes into your life. And so you might say we're here each month discussing an opportunity, and you can either become aware of the energy and work with the opportunity or you can forget it completely and go about your daily routine. But I am saying to you, my friends if you listen to the messages and you think of the opportunity and the energy that is coming in that month, you can make the best possible use of these opportunities. And I say this because we talked in general terms here and in other places about the energies for this New Year. It's a year, you might say of manifesting if you so choose for this to be in your own life. The opportunity was there. Everyone did not take advantage of that opportunity, I'm sad to say. It was a beautiful moment where intent as to what you want in your life was standing behind a doorway, you might say, a doorway giving you the tools to create what you wanted in your life.

That's why we believe these messages are so important to you. Take them seriously. We see what is coming. We attempt to describe what is coming. It is up to you to understand what is coming and place it in your life in the most opportune place, so that you get as much as possible from it because, my friends next month the energy that is coming in is truly supportive to every human being on the planet, supportive in a way that you haven't seen support before. Therefore it becomes extremely, extremely important to understand just how powerful these energies are.

And I have to say some people can be blasé about this; "Ohhh.. this is energy." Think of it in terms of not so much this is energy but these are opportunities and do you use them or do you waste them? And it is our hope that you listen to what we say, know that we see what is coming; we understand the general plan and take advantage of it. And we understand you're sitting there with things that you think and know are very dramatic and you might say vie for your time and your energy. There's so much going on in the political scene. There's the most recent thing, the oil spill which certainly is very dramatic and there's the concern of finances, the stock market; so much is going on. You have the stock market changes, you have election changes, policy changes within the political system, immigration, school curriculums, you're every day, you might say items that you're working with and they vie for your time on so many levels. But my friends take the moments. It doesn't take many to either listen to it or read it; what is happening at the moment, the direction that the moment is moving towards. Understand what we say. It only takes a few moments to read it, to work with it. It means an awful lot in your life.

So my friends, I am here again as the Mother you might say, wanting her children to understand the value of what these opportunities are. We want you to get as much as possible out of the changing seasons of vibrational movement, because these last several years before 2012 are very dramatic, very dramatic shifts; shifts that you haven't seen anything at all like this before. And so that is all that I have to say my children. Take advantage of it. Goodbye for now.
