

Mother Mary in Samoa

Brought forth by Carolyn Evers

December 12, 2009

This is just one example of a demonstration of my love for humanity and for the Earth. My son and I walk amongst you. Do you understand what that means? Our feet do not touch the Earth, because it is too dense for us to do so, but we walk among you in the astral plane, which is as close as we can get to you. But from that vantage point, we see the events that come into the world.

We see those souls who are there, working in the light. We also see those souls who chose not to work in the light. We are that close. We hear your thoughts. We feel the energies of your hearts as they are opened. We also know when the heart is closed. We see the darkness there, and it saddens us because you can open your heart if you will it. And so I say to you, open your hearts to the possibility of love. It is that, my dear beloved friends that opens the heart. Open your heart and search for all the possibilities of love.

The world abounds in them. It is just that you focus too much upon the news that carries such dire energy. It is a constant barrage of the dark agenda. There is very little within the news that is joyful or uplifting. These are moments of joy, my friends, if you open your heart and allow it, if you look towards those moments when the great energy is coming to your planet, to be aware of it – during the full moon, the solstice, which is closely approaching you (December 21st, 2009). Feel it. Just intend to move your heart and your mind towards these new energies and accept what All-There-Is or your Heavenly Father in the centre of the cosmos is sending to you. These are vibrations that are coming directly from home. That is where your true home is. You are here experiencing, but your true home is in the centre of the cosmos, with your Creator, the Prime Creator of all you see; of all that is. That is home.

Sometimes the heart becomes weary and you forget this. You forget that you hold particles of All-There-Is within your soul. This is what your soul is yearning for – connection to the owner of those particles, to the Creator. And so, sometimes it is easy to become lost in the energies of this dense dimension, where those who have dark thoughts and dark agendas send forth their energy into the world and you pick it up, because you are radio antennas. That is what the body is like – a radio antenna, and you pick these dark energies and so take a moment; feel my love; hear me tell you how I love you, how home is not as far away as it seems, because it is simply in these new energies, the opportunity to feel what it is like at home.

Send your thoughts to your Creator. Tell your Creator that you love Them. Listen for Their messages and you will start to see your heart change. You will start to see your world in which you live change, because you will transform not only yourself, but those around you, and eventually you will join with others to help transform the world. The message of peace and love is clearly being carried on waves which come to Earth and especially at this time of the year when people celebrate Christmas, where they celebrate the love energy, where they celebrate that child that came to Bethlehem so many years ago and I, his mother, was there present and I am here present with you.

And so my son and I have walked these paths these 2,000 years and we see so many people in difficulty, so many souls that we love; we peer at them and they seem confused. And so what we are doing is we are making ourselves known in your 3D world. We are telling you as clearly as we can; we are with you, and we point the way towards your Creator and we're doing everything that we can; and these sightings in Samoa, which have been going on for some time is just another moment, another place where we touch our feet upon your world as best as we can. And we say, take this moment and understand we are with you. We have not left you and we don't intend to leave you. We will be everywhere, so that there can be no doubt. We hold your hand; we stand next to you and we love you.

Until the next message that we bring forth, this your Mother.

To understand what waits us in 2012, see <http://www.the2012countdown.com/>

For our healing work - <http://www.AngelicMessenger.com>

"The Coming Golden Age and How to Prepare for it" - <http://www.thecominggoldenage.com>

For all of our products and services, see <http://www.theshop2012.com>

Our other websites include:

<http://www.lamJeshuaReturned.com>

<http://www.metatronminutes.com>

Check out what Steve Fossett is saying about our times and about Ascension at

<http://www.SteveFossettLives.com>