

Jeshua and Quan Yin discuss the equinox of September, 2009

And so we are approaching the time of the equinox in September 2009, and I ask Jeshua to come forward with any message that he may have to share with us in relation to this date.

And he is saying this date is another milestone in your progression towards what awaits you at the end of 2012. That alignment with Galactic Centre and also with Cosmic Centre, an event that has never happened in the history of your planet. There have been alignments with Galactic Centre, as you know, every 12,500 - 13,000 years as you complete half a trip around Galactic Centre, but the alignment with Cosmic Centre has never been and this aspect, as you know, was planned before even this galaxy was created, so this alignment has been long planned. Long planned.

And humanity in general does not understand yet the power and the significance of this event. Some are aware of the alignment with Galactic Centre, but almost none are aware of the alignment with Cosmic Centre and what that will mean because the energies coming through that Gateway have never been seen before on this planet. The transformation that will occur as a result of those energies is unimaginable. Unimaginable. And so we have in place a process of preparation for that time, for that alignment so that for all of humanity that choose to participate in what will unfold as a result of those energies coming to the planet will be prepared, will be ready, will be in a place that will allow them to ride these energies like a wave. They will be so graceful and so easy, so simple for those who have done the preparation, because your bodies are designed for that event. There are no accidents here. This has all been planned down to the last minute detail. Your bodies are designed for this. It will be no effort. It will be a joyous moment, a joyous celebration as the vibrational nature of every aspect of consciousness, not just matter, but of all consciousness on the planet and indeed your solar system will increase. It is a transformation that you cannot imagine and so preparation is necessary. Preparation is essential if you are going to participate in this beautiful ride, because if you don't prepare it will be quite the opposite of a beautiful ride.

I have said and Father God has said that those who choose not to acknowledge their Creator and to clear those energies you call karmic energies or karmic patterns from the past, those stuck energies from past lives and even this life; that if you don't clear those energies they will not survive these new energies coming forth and in those energies not surviving, the body of the one who carries those energies will not survive either. As Father God has said, some will see this as a threat. It is not a threat. You could say it's a warning, yes, and you could say it is simply an encouragement for all of humanity to understand the wondrous event that awaits you all. You just have to choose it. You just have to acknowledge the authority of your Creator. Humanity in general does not recognise that their soul is owned by the Creator of All; that their souls are created by Father God, if you will, and you could say they are on loan, that it is that aspect of you that in fact is an aspect of that Ultimate Creator and he is simply asking you to remember. Remember that truth. Nothing more, nothing less; simply asking you to remember that truth and acknowledge that truth and feel his love; the love that he has for all creation. And in acknowledging that love, begin to prepare for this wondrous event, truly wondrous event that he has prepared for all of you. And so, the best way to look at this is really a gift. A gift, a reward for those of you who have trodden this difficult and demanding path on this beautiful planet called Earth. This difficult and challenging path with the dark. And so this equinox is yet one more step in the preparation for what awaits you.

We have just been through an important transition on the 9th of September, a moment which both Mother Mary and I described as momentous and indeed it was, and its consequences are yet to be understood to any great degree by humanity, but you will understand it. My messengers here understand that it was a fork in the road, you could say, a separation between those who have chosen the path towards Ascension and those who have not. And that path will widen and for those who have chosen the path to Ascension, it will be like a magic carpet ride, like wonder and joy and abundance will unfold in front of you. It will be like magic, truly like magic and for those who have not chosen that path, they will find life becoming more and more difficult, more entangling, more seemingly impossible, as if there are no answers. As if life is falling apart around them in so many ways and in so many senses, and in truth that is exactly what is happening. And so that contrast will grow and you could say it is Father God's way of saying, "Wake up!!"

You can choose the path of the magic carpet ride, you can choose that path that is simply a choice to acknowledge the truth of who and what you are and the truth of your Creator; to acknowledge his authority in the matter, or you can deny that and experience the consequences of that denial, because he wants all of you to awaken to that beautiful truth. He wants none of you to come to the end of December 2012, to that date that you know as the solstice of 2012, December 2012; he wants none of you to get to that date and to transition, to experience a moment of great pain as your body deconstructs because that's what will happen if you are still present on the planet and living in denial of the truth of your Creator. That is what will await you and so that path began to separate on the 9th of September 2009, that 9:9:9 date that is indelibly marked on the consciousness of all of humanity, whether they are consciously aware of it or not.

And so this equinox, in a sense, acts as a moment of celebration for those that have chosen the path towards Ascension; a moment of celebration as the energies that make this path magical join you on the planet. It's like; it really is like fairy dust will be sprinkled upon those who have chosen the path to Ascension. It's like the doors will open in front of you in ways you cannot imagine and those doors will begin to open on all levels in all ways, beyond this equinox of September 23, 2009 in most of your planet. And so it is an exquisite moment; a moment of great joy, a moment of celebration. A champagne moment, if you will, a moment of great excitement, a moment to treasure because of all that has been promised; all of the skills, all of the abilities, all of the opportunities that you have been awaiting begin to unfold on your planet.

The energies of preparation for this moment have been coming in for some time; many of them as you know joined your planet through the eclipses of July and August. They were, you could say, in preparation for this moment. It's like this moment will activate those energies in a new and powerful way and so it will become like, almost like a stroll towards the end of 2012. A time of great joy, a time of great abundance, a time of great love, of great peace, and will be as if there really are two worlds in one;

a world of those walking the path to Ascension, walking as if they were truly in a field of flowers, truly a path of joy and wonder. And yet, at the same time, there is this path of seeming destruction and difficulty, as if life has stopped functioning, as in many ways it has.

And so, this date also activates in far more intensity those energies of difficulty, of challenge that are an aspect of the path of denial; the path of denial of your Creator. And so it is a matter of choice, purely a matter of choice, a choice that will become more and more stark as we walk towards that appointment that we all have with destiny, you could say, at the end of 2012.

Which will you choose? Which will you choose? I leave that choice with each one of you, because it is an individual choice. Some speak of this preparation for the end of 2012 as being something that humanity needs to cooperate on, and I think you all know deep in your hearts that that is an unlikely occurrence at best. Your history will demonstrate quite adequately the success there has been in having humanity cooperate and plan as a group, and so suggestions that that is the way forward carry seated within them the handiwork of the dark, because each of you who seek to connect with that message will be being misled. You will know deep inside you the desperation, the lack of hope that that message carries, even though it looks like a message of hope and a message of truth, it is not.

The truth is, this is an individual choice; a choice that you all individually have. It doesn't matter what your neighbour does; Ascension will happen. That event will occur. The new Earth is ready and waiting. That template has been created. It has been completed for over a year. It is ready. Ascension will occur and so it is a personal choice as to whether you participate; a personal choice. Be very clear about that. And so it is a choice that every individual is faced with making and I encourage you, with all of my love and support to make that choice to acknowledge your Creator and join the magic carpet ride as we approach 2012.

I give you all my blessings. Thank you.

Message from Quan Yin

Let's see who is waiting in the wings to have a feminine version of the equinox for September, and I suspect that must be Mother Mary that's willing to come forth, but I'm not sure. It doesn't seem like her. I'm sensing Quan Yin, which is interesting. The lady of compassion. And it is Quan Yin.

She is the perfect goddess; gentle, compassionate, so interested in humanity. She certainly has the appearance of the most beautiful goddess; one of grace and majesty and, of course compassion, as the other goddesses have compassion. But what she is telling me today is she is not coming in the role of the compassionate goddess. She's coming in the role of one who sits on the karmic board, and that is part of the message that she wishes to discuss today.

Human beings are afraid of the word karma because they look at it as something that perhaps might be disagreeable and, for many, karma is disagreeable because obligations were not fulfilled. If obligations are fulfilled, there is nothing about karma that one must dread, because when an obligation is fulfilled, karma is certainly a beautiful thing. It is a dance in majesty, it is a completeness, it is completion, and that is what Quan Yin wishes to address today; that Jeshua certainly spoke of this beautiful ride, what is possible, what will happen, and she wishes to discuss this from a different point of view. The point of view of the release of the human being from what she is calling the wheel of incarnations.

That once one ascends and passes through that gateway, body and soul, to the next higher dimensions, if all is fulfilled and it would have to be fulfilled to be able to walk through the gateway; that reincarnation is not necessary any longer, and the reason that it isn't necessary any longer is because the body is with the soul in that higher dimension where creativity truly begins, where one manifests what is in the heart and the mind. And so, the higher level is attained, the body is complete. It does not have to age any longer. Not only does it not have to age, but it is in a place now where it can be rejuvenated. So, there needs not to be the ending of the ageing body and the death that comes along with that. And she says I'm not sugar coating this. I'm not talking about transition, I am using the word death because that is in the past; it is not necessary to die once one ascends. Body, soul, rejuvenation.

With all of that comes memory. My dear friends, memory of where you have been, of where you wish to go; not just the Earth journey, but that journey throughout the cosmos. In other words, you can go back and remember when your soul was created, not only to remember it but to see it in its completeness. To see your connection to your Father when you were brought forth from nothingness; when you were called forth using Father's particles and that journey of the soul from the very beginning until you got to Earth and what choices are before you.

Will you stay on the new Earth? Will you go to the Golden Galaxy with Archangel Michael, or will you be one who will continue the journey throughout the cosmos and eventually stand at the entrance way back to your Creator again? To join Creator, remembering all of your experiences. This, my friends, is karma also. The result of fulfilling what is required.

And if you listen to Jeshua's message first and then you listen to my message and take it to heart, you understand where my compassion is; my compassion and my love in shepherding you through these steps. I am with you, my beloveds. I and the other feminine goddesses. We're all here as images of the Mother. We're all here welcoming their children. We are all here to take our children by their hands and to walk with them to that next higher dimension; body and soul; regaining memory; where the body is regenerated and there is no need for death again. Think of what that means. Think, my beloveds, what that means.
