

What is the difference between the ascension of the planet Earth and our own personal ascension?

I am glad to come forth and explain the difference between these two concepts because they are different. Words are being used without the understanding that is necessary to prepare for these events.

First of all, I want to say that the planet Earth will move to her higher vibrations no matter that people are ready to stand in the new vibrations or not. Understand that all will not be able to withstand the higher vibratory rate as Earth ascends to the highest capability of her blueprint.

There are levels in this blueprint and we would point out that for the first level of change, we expect all souls to be able to withstand the change in the vibratory rate, but beyond the second band of energy, some will fall away and we expect that this group will be of the faction that desire to be in conflict to the Creator's plan or blueprint. This you presently call the dark forces.

We wish to point out that there are several groups in that description. One group has chosen to grow and develop spiritually by serving self and then ultimately the light, but there is another group that wishes to control life force. This group is diametrically opposed to Universal Law.

Understand that it is the last group that will not be able to survive in the more rarified vibrational rate, as the pirating of energy, or life force, from another will not be allowed in this new vibrational level. They will have to incarnate or work on another planet that is of the more dense vibrations that you have mastered so to speak.

Earth is a sentient being and she will move to the level of her highest accomplishments in the past, before what we call the Fall of Atlantis. This is only the first step and we will address the progression of these levels at a later date. For now, we wish to explain simply where humanity resides presently, and not in the future growth patterns.

Now, ascension of the human, we will define as the state where human beings will be able to take their physical body to the next higher level of energy expansion along with their soul. We express this in these words, because this is the place where souls translate to that level that you call death, where the physical body passes away and the spirit moves to the higher band of energy. Some call this place Nirvana.

This is the simple explanation and we will address it in greater detail later after the new energies that are coming onto this planet have a chance to coalesce with the human frame. We want to see the progress of this implementation of energy before we discuss this in more detail.
