I would like to ask Jeshua about the Father God. Who is he, and is that the Father God who sent Jeshua to Earth 2000 years ago?

Question sent by Tu.

Answer: Father God is a representative of Prime Creator who is located in the center of the cosmos. Prime Creator remains in the center of the cosmos as its construction is so large that if he moved it would cause an imbalance in the cosmos. So, he sends representatives of himself and these representatives are located in every star system and we would consider this solar system with the sun in the center of it as a star.

Each representative is connected in such a way to Prime Creator that they would not even consider working in any manner that would be considered in opposition to Prime Creator. The reason for this is that when Prime Creator set up the cosmos, placing his representative in each star system, there were a large number of particles that came forth from Prime Creator to create these representatives. So there is a very strong connection in understanding and intent between Prime Creator and all of the representatives in each star.

When I spoke of the Father in the many dialogs that have come down to the people on Earth, I was alluding to my higher self. The people at the time would have had difficulty in understanding what the higher self meant, so I kept things simple so as not to cause confusion. In this day and age people understand that the higher self is what might be considered the doorway to the soul monad. This is a very important configuration as the soul monad holds all the information regarding the journey of a soul.

To answer your question completely, I must say that Father God, as I have illustrated this, did not send me to Earth 2000 years ago, but rather there was work that needed to be done 2000 years ago and that work was overseen by the one who was responsible for sending me. This one is known as Marietta. Marietta would be considered the Master Soul, or to put it another way would be considered my soul monad.

When times are appropriate, Marietta sends what could be called a finger of consciousness into this dimension and that finger of consciousness was my personal soul energy that I work with. So you might look upon the soul monad as being a very large reservoir of particles that would be considered the master soul. This arrangement would be the case for all the individuals coming forth from my monad. So in a sense you might say that all that came forth are all related to each other. However, each representative is different in the sense that when they came into a physical body they inherited genetic material from their parents, and as you know these genetic lines run deep into many layers of ancestry and the reactions and emotions might be somewhat different from one another.

Marietta sends fingers of consciousness, or individuals to Earth every time there is a particular mission to accomplish, or specific work to help bring forth a Golden Age. When one connects with their higher self, which is the gateway to the soul monad, they will have access to the information contained in the soul monad when the time is right.

The soul monad carries all of the experiences from the time it was created until the present moment when an individual works with it and has developed the mastery to be able to work with these higher energies. We wish to share with you that the soul monad carries extremely high energies and the individual must be ready energetically to be able to download the information without damage to their energy field. This takes time to be able to work in this manner but all is possible if one is committed to pursuing that.

QUESTION TWO

My question to Jeshua is: How can we help you? How do we assist you in improving the energy on this planet and bringing back the light and love you share?

Answer: I find your question very interesting as you are in a place to think about others first before yourself. I know that you have many questions and some of them personal that arise in your mind, urging more understanding, and yet you have asked for information that is beyond your personal self and we applaud you for that.

As you know, I carry a very important role now. I have authority for this planet. That authority that I possess comes through Marietta, that soul that over-lights me. Marietta was the first soul that was created after the Seraphim and the Cherubim were created.

When Prime Creator created souls, he used particles and light from his being and this was generated to a tempo that was invigorated through the sound of music, which could be called the Music of the Spheres, and his intent and purposes.

Marietta was cast with many of these particles, and you might consider that this first soul that was created carried many more particles than any other soul that was created.

One role that Marietta is responsible for is that at each round of Brahma, he ushers in the last of the energies and experiences into that enormous power base that we call Prime Creator. Then there is a resting period.
Before a new round of Brahma begins, that first soul that we are calling Marietta is responsible for beginning that process. Because of this activity alone, Marietta’s soul of necessity must be very complex in it structure.

You assist me when you assist the planet and when you intend to carry out Prime Creator’s Tree of Life. This is the plan for all of creation and the workings of that creation as it involves all of the cosmos and the missions and paths of souls.

One of Prime Creator’s focus points presently is to bring down Heaven upon Earth. What we mean by Heaven are those magnificent qualities that are contained in the universal foundation or deposit of love, and what I mean by that is love in every form. It is intended that the workings, the interactions among people with regards to this love be implemented on Earth after Ascension. So what we are saying here is every soul that intends to live life perfectly and bring forth the Creator’s energies upon this planet is working towards that end. That greatly assists Gaia, it greatly assists me, and it also greatly assists you, as these experiences make certain that you grow spiritually in this dimension that you presently live and that you draw closer to Prime Creator.

What you call light and love is part of that Divine Plan that I am calling the Tree of Life. The dark had a period of time—actually a long period of time—where it held sway over this planet. However, now is the time when this changes, and that change will be where the light holds sway. This is also planned in this cycle and regardless of what anyone thinks, this is an irresistible part of this cycle.

We will bring forth more information about cycles, the Tree of Life, and the Creator’s plans for the future Earth, but that will come forth in another newsletter where we can dedicate just those thoughts in our answer.
Jeshua asked us to create a specific website for him which is www.IamJeshuaReturned.com. He specified all of the site’s content and you may find value in familiarizing yourself with it.

We have also been given other material from Jeshua and about Jeshua’s soul journey. The first is a series of lessons for this time that Jeshua has begun to give to us, known as “Jeshua’s Messages”, and the second being “The Soul Journey of Jeshua”. These series will fill in many gaps for you. They bring forth information and insights you will not find elsewhere.

There has been a great deal written and spoken about the events that await us at the end of 2012.

- Is it the end of the world?
- Will we all be killed?
- Will there be great cataclysms?
- What message were the Maya actually leaving for us?
- Is this a time of great spiritual advancement? If so, where is the evidence?
- In the past, the precessional alignments with Galactic Centre have brought great devastation. Will it be the same this time?
- Why are there crop circles that seem to connect to 2012?
- and many others...

There have been movies created that engender fear, portraying the end of the world, as some seek to foster this fear factor. Yet, this is not what Carolyn Evers and I have been given to understand through our work, much of which we have shared at www.the2012countdown.com and through our YouTube videos at: http://www.youtube.com/user/richardpresser

Many beings from the other side of the veil of consciousness that surrounds our planet have come forth and shared their perspective with us, and yet still many questions have persisted. And so it was that Carolyn was prompted to record a perspective from a high aspect of her soul, along with segments from All-There-Is or Source or Prime Creator, the one who has created this cosmos and all that resides within it, to bring forth a perspective on what is unfolding at the end of 2012 and beyond that has not been shared before.

As Carolyn put this together, Mother Mary also came forth to add her perspective to the picture that was being painted, and these have been added as a series of recordings throughout this eBook.

As the changes begin to come forth on the planet in preparation for the events that await us at the December 2012 solstice and beyond; economic and financial dislocation, Earth changes and so on, this is a picture, an understanding that all of humanity needs to grasp, because without it, so many of humanity will be in fear.
