Passage of Planet X

There have been predictions that Planet X will come close to Earth and cause much destruction. Would you please give us your perspective on this?

I find that an interesting question and am glad to come forth and give the spiritual perspective on this non-event and the circumstances surrounding the predictions. This is just the kind of topic I wish to answer as it is the reason why I started the Metatron Minutes web page.

There are many elements of fear and trepidation considering the future of humanity. I wish to say unequivocally that humanity will exist and will not be cut short from living in full awareness of their divine inheritance.

There have been many events that have occurred in the past that were true with regard to destruction and the possibility of destruction of Earth and her people. I stand in the circle of truth with Archangel Michael and I say to you that there has been enough light brought forth to the Earth and her people to stand in opposition to any destruction of this sort.

While yes there will be changes in the plate system, increasing storm damage, unparalleled changes with regard to melting ice at the poles, the majesty of Earth will continue to progress as you are developing.

Passage of Planet X	1
Barrack Obama	2
Connecting with Lord Metatron	3

I speak here of recent history as far as the melting of ice at the poles because there were places at the poles in the very long past history where there was very little ice there. The Earth goes through seasons, always has in the past and always will in the future.

But know dear friends Planet X will not be coming close to the Earth. This happened in the past but this has changed for the present. This is old information. I am here to tell you about the new information.

You must be free of fear of any kind if you are to step into all of your potential as children of God. This is the time of great spiritual significance; this is not the time of the destruction of humanity.

What I might be saying might cause some confusion in the sense that the Earth has suffered the recent Earthquake in China and the earth still shakes occasionally at the ring of fire. There will be changes there. However know that your spiritual hierarchy are doing all they can to keep these changes as balanced as possible. Pope John Paul II, Mother Mary, Archangel Michael have discussed with you the future and how the planet will be healed.

Barrack Obama

It seems like Senator Barrack Obama, the Democratic Nominee might be elected President of the United States. Mr. Obama comes from parents that represent two races, one white and one black. Please give me the spiritual perspective as to why this soul made this choice as he incarnated and what reactions will his choice have upon the people of the United States and the world?

I come forth to answer a most interesting and important question that comes from your mind and heart. You can sense the pivotal point of this situation as it matches Mr. Obama's theme that he has said many times; CHANGE.

This is what this man is about, change on many levels. He comes to bind the wounds of segregation from the point of view of each race. What is not self evident is that each race requires healing on some level. We perceive that this was the first instance of what you see as his mission is to bind wounds, and that is the change he wants to bring to humanity first.

There has been deep pain inflicted upon each race as there were vibrational frequencies placed in the human hearts of all because of all the injustices triggered by hatred and control. Therefore, there are those who need healing because of injustice and there is healing required by those who used hatred to express their desire to control.

What is not so obvious is that hatred does indeed come from the sentiments of the desire to control others. This has been an underlying passion that brought forth much pain, not only in your country, but also in the world.

We view Mr. Obama as your next president and this example will influence humanity's thinking on many levels. This is not just about a presidential election, but rather it is about the sentiments of equality, justice, freedom from control and cooperation among people. These are all of Mr. Obama's synthesis for his projects in his bid for the White House. This he has carried over from earlier lifetimes where he did lead the country from a heart of compassion and love. He comes again because of this past connection with the world and also because this is the time for freedom of the soul and to sever the bindings of control.

You are seeing the demise of the money centers of greed and control no matter what is carried in the news and no matter how many speeches are given. It is the time, my beloveds; it is the time for the good news of Source, or Prime Creator, the God of all to be acknowledged and in that acknowledgement to bring forth the love again between all souls and their Maker.

This is the time for hearts to open to love and the resurgence of love in the world again.

This election will seem like a new Christmas again as this will be perceived as a new period in the world where there will be many gifts from God coming to humanity again. It is the awakening again to who YOU are and why YOU are here.

Now the parental grouping from which Mr. Obama came forth reflects several ideas. One is that all peoples no matter the color or race can be joined in harmony. And in this joining will come the sharing in the bounty of the Earth as all riches should be shared for all in equality and compassion.

Understand that this is the goal and will take time to bring this forth as there will still be much by way of challenges from those who wish to control the power.

As far as the world is concerned, there will be a great and wonderful change in perception of your country. The fact that your people will be able to bring forth a president of color will be a trigger in the minds of all that something very different has taken place. His voice will be accepted and noted in the public view as in his speech is noticed a difference from past positions which reflect a lack of respect, arrogance, and the perceived posturing as saber rattling.

We caution that this will take time to make these changes, but we see hope and gradual changes allowing the foundations necessary to come forth for what you are calling Ascension.

Archangel Metatron

How can one connect with Archangel Metatron before they fall asleep?

I am full of joy to think that there are those who wish to connect with me as they slide into the wonderful world of rejuvenating the physical body. When you join my conference calls, I give tools to connect with me personally so that I am constantly aware of you. I have other gifts to give also that are extremely special as I come from the highest level of existence closest to Source, or All-There-Is in the center of the Cosmos.

I bring these gifts for all of humanity because the very First Creator, or Prime Creator holds me in close proximity and I have been privileged to have been given the Keys of Consciousness between humanity and the heavens. Therefore, it is a good thing to desire connecting to me before one falls asleep. Call my name; see my image in your third eye as you fall into slumber. I send my special messengers to find you and bring you forth to me where you stand before me and we exchange our special warming greetings and also share great wisdom with one another. We are all the creations of the Master Builder and I join you in adept praise of our God.

You might not remember this when you wake, but your soul remembers. The memory allows the sweetness of life to flow in your veins. The beauty of what you see on Earth will become more sweet, more gentle and more delectable.

Call out to me. I await you.
