Akashic Reading on Healing

Reading by Carolyn Evers

In furthering the information that Jeshua gave us regarding healing (see "The elements of Ageing" from Jeshua at <http://www.metatronminutes.com/article.s.html>), I am including something that was a part of an akashic reading for an individual. I think this answer could be helpful to everyone.

Question: Who around me is now in my life to teach me what I need to heal and what are those issues?

Everyone that comes in contact with an individual where there is an exchange of some sort offers an opportunity for healing. These could be considered casual contacts. There are many incidents where there is a small opportunity to heal a portion of the past where there was some obligation either real or imagined. This is the way of the spiritual path.

When souls incarnate, they usually attract each other as the result of an agreement that they had made before they came into that lifetime. We are speaking here of closer relationships and these individuals are usually those who hold major challenges for repairing some past action.

Therefore, mothers usually agree to birth souls who might be of some great help to them, or pose some great obligation. This is true of every family member in your circle. So what we feel your question is: what are the major commitments made to those in your circle?

The Emergence of NESARA

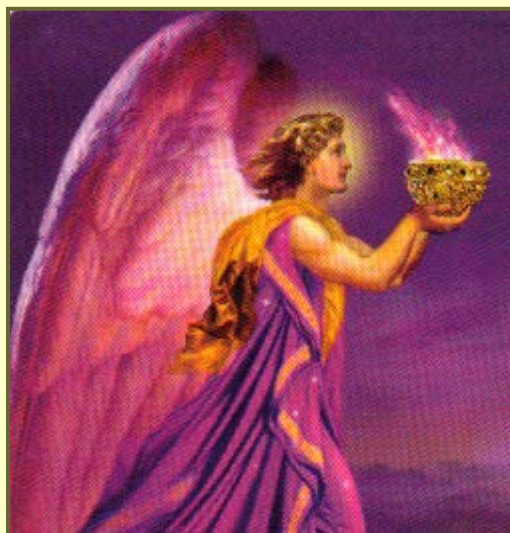

Question: There has been much comment about the emergence of NESARA as a new regime of political and financial governance in the US, along with substantial new funding from a fund ostensibly created by St. Germaine. Is there any truth in this?

Before we answer that question, I would like to discuss another aspect of a universal law. This has to do with what is required of people to step into their own mastery.

As you are aware, everyone has issues because of their actions. Sometimes the issue is expecting others to pick up the pieces which are results of their own mistakes. You can see this in the relationship sometimes between parents and children. Unless a child is taught to be self reliant, they will always look to others to "fix things" for them.

Therefore, mothers usually agree to birth souls who might be of some great help to them, or pose some great obligation. This is true of every family member in your circle. So what we feel your question is: what are the major commitments made to those in your circle?

A parent for the most part wants things better for their children than what was presented to them. So sometimes they compensate and do not allow children to work out their own problems; finding the answers to their life path.

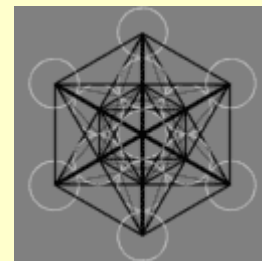

If you think of this and understand that it is always important for people to govern their own choices and the results of their choices, you will see that expecting some outside organization to give large sums of money to people as a part of this program of NESARA is again expecting others to solve their own personal problems. Again it is the child expecting others to provide for them. Advanced masters such as St. Germaine would never do this to humanity. What St. Germaine and other masters would do is to give the tools to people to resolve their problems. So that being said, the imbalance in the world of the Earth resources is the result of greed. This greed came as the result of people either usurping power, or they were given power through some government authority. Even if what you call the poor and under advantaged were given money to solve their problems, some would squander what they received very quickly. I speak here of those who live in a world of some freedom where personal choice is possible.

The Mushaba Force and its role

There are a number of people that speak of the Mushaba Force as an important aspect of Ascension on Earth and a force of the light. Can you please explain the origin of the Mushaba Force and its role, if any, in the cosmos and who it represents?

There are many who work for the light in the sense that they want to bring forward the evolution of those on Earth. This group is not one of them. They bring forth messages that seem to be of the light, are similar to the light, but they slip in messages that confuse as they are not quite correct in their dissemination of what they call truth. There are those who wish to deceive for purposes of their own desires, and in the past they sent messages that tried to overtake the hearts of those who wished to follow Ultimate Creator the one we call the Source of All, or All-There-Is. These messages were overt and came with a direct challenge to the light, but as the energies have changed and there is more light in the world, some who wish to deceive have taken a more subtle push. We would call these messages similar to the light in that they use signatures that seem like they are of the light. This is especially true to those who are not discriminating enough to run their energy focus upon how the energy of the messages feels within their subtle energy body and also their spiritual body.

These are the two means to interpret messages along with the heart centre and the solar plexus. Actually when one uses their subtle body to screen the messages they receive, the results show up in their solar plexus as a gut feeling or else in the heart chakra so that one feels the truth in their heart.

We have spoken about people discerning messages as something that is very important presently. The dark ones have taken a different course of activity and there are some who are overtly changing messages so that they act as a controlling mechanism through fear and there are those of the dark who are using subtle messages that register upon the subconscious state as something that might be accurate and truthful.

These are the two opposite poles of negative messages and there are other messages that are negative in their nature and use paths in between these two opposite poles. So today there is much confusion and it is a time to be especially alert as some might even feel that they have benefited from these messages on some level.

Continued... The Emergence of NESARA

You see, thought and the process of how one perceives themselves contributes to what people accomplish in the world and that extends to the supply of money and how one materializes it and how it is used. I am not including those individuals who are abused and controlled in the world by dark entities that dominate and take everything away from them, even their lives. If large sums of money were given to them, those in power would confiscate this also. So in answer to your question, there is no money in large sums or small sums that will be distributed as a means of balancing the wealth of this beautiful planet. This is strictly a human condition and not one whereby the spiritual hierarchy intends to interfere and adjudicate.

However, what the Spiritual Hierarchy will do is to put into place those necessary events that will eventually cause a reaction in human affairs so that humanity will make choices to allow more sharing between those who have the resources and those who do not. Money is strictly the means in which to use energy that provides all that is needed and required for humanity to live in peace and prosperity. The spiritual hierarchy will teach those who are willing how to materialize what is required, but will not give it to them. This is not the way to grow spiritually.

There are elements of NESARA that will come to pass. We speak here of individuals coming in to take government positions who will allow the process of passing laws that will give people more freedom. In that freedom they will have the ability to work within the concepts that all are one, both as individuals and working in the care of this beautiful planet. You are starting to see some of this now. There is a growing awareness of responsibility for the care of those less fortunate and responsibility for the care and welfare of planet Earth. This is what advanced masters are fostering, the awareness of responsibility and how fulfilling that responsibility frees one from the shackles of the dark and helps one to find their relationship with their Creator. This process will take much longer than what one might believe. This is because there is free will on this planet and was part of the plan set up so that souls would understand their connection to Prime Creator and understand the love that exists between the Creator and the created. These are learning lessons as you can see. To hand over the answers and the result to people does not serve them. I come forth at this time so that you can understand that there is a new age coming to Earth and her people and responsibility is part of that new age. For too long humanity has been trying to give their responsibilities over to someone else. Too many are content to turn their responsibilities to elected officials and go about their business without oversight of these government officials.

There is a new breath of freedom ready to come forth for the people and personal responsibility is part of this equation.

For spiritual advancement, no one else will do your job for you. Know that you will have all the necessary help and assistance to bring forth your goals and desires, but we only stand here as helpmates in our guidance. For too long humanity has expected the spiritual hierarchy to do their work and now it is time for humanity to become spiritually mature, and it is a good thing.

The Mushaba Force and its role continued...

So the question is this, how does one determine what is truth and what is not truth? The first step is to make certain that your choice is clear as to what you are aligned with. This might seem like a statement that is unclear, but it is not. There are those who are aligned with money and all that money might bring on the side of greed; taking money and assets that are not honestly earned. Then there are those who are aligned with all the worldly pleasures and then there are those who are aligned with the spirit world and searching for their relationship with their Creator. Depending where you stand colours your reactions to truth and the messages you receive.

In other words, if one has no compunction with destroying others for the sake of amassing as much money as possible, even overtly dark messages might register as truth to these individuals if the words serve them. As one becomes more aligned with the light and the path of searching for their relationship with their Ultimate Creator, then they will become more discriminating with messages that are even slightly tainted with words that are not true.

The controlling words or idea here is where do you stand? What are your intentions regarding others? Do you see them as your brothers and sisters or do you see them as opportunities to better your own riches?

The Mushaba Force and its role continued...

I can say something is not true, or it is true, but I want to help you to understand how to judge and decipher for yourself what is true. If you can really say you are on a spiritual path and you want to be enlightened and understand your relationship to Prime or Ultimate Creator, then you will feel subtle messages that are even slightly distorted. You will feel the distortion right away. So this takes time. Read the messages carefully that you receive from the Mushaba Force. Use your logic first then see how the messages FEEL when you run your emotional filters against the words. Do you feel something uncomfortable in the heart chakra or in the solar plexus? Or do you read the messages and they seem like they might be accurate, but after you think about them for awhile, things do not seem right. This is another sign for closer study and perhaps comparison to sources that you trust or feel are accurate.

We have come to give you these words of direction as you are on a path where you must walk into your own mastery for spiritual growth. These are truly moments of personal discernment. Lord Metatron

A question to the Cherubim - My dear sisters of the light, I require information about an energy that some are calling the Mushaba Energy. There is a statement that I would like some clarification about.

“The Mushaba Force was created when the first circle, the corona of all creation expanded into light.” Is this true?

No, this is not true. Let us explain. As we said there was a time before vibration when Source, or All-There-Is existed, but we do not have records of that as vibration did not exist and all our records are recorded in vibration. No one can claim knowledge of this time as it is imperceptible to anyone. There is a veil there that cannot be pierced even by us.

We have records after vibration began, though. There was a movement by Source, though we do not understand what caused that movement or why there was a movement at all. This first movement caused energy to come forth and as the energy came forth and the movement began, it started what looked like tracks that a snake places in the sand when it moves. After the second movement by All-There-Is, there was another line placed next to the first and as we perceive it this was the beginning of vibration. There was a lapse in time as we view the records, though we cannot tell the exact time as it pertains to your calculation, but it would be a very long time, what one might call epochs.

We believe this was a planning period where All-There-Is evaluated itself and possibilities were presented during this review. We suspect that it was an inspection or awareness of itself.

After this period of what we feel was introspection, then there appeared a vast breakthrough of light. This light was so intense that we cannot see or read how the vibration quivered at that point, but when the light cleared some so that we could see beyond the light, we recognized the vibrational pattern was complete and it was pulsating. This we recognize now as those pulsating movements which connect the forward thrust as Source gives these vibrations to us to carry throughout the cosmos.

There is also a pulsating energy that might seem like the opposite movement as Source receives the vibration from us as we bring back the vibration from the cosmos and we strip the results from the vibration and compact it in a manner that we cannot explain to you and return both entries to Source which begins the process again.

In our viewpoint this is how light was started. It did not start in any other planetary sphere as is indicated in your reading and this we say is how All-There-Is began light, no other manner.

This is a question that you should answer yourself. To discover this yourself is the most beneficial way for you to proceed along the spiritual path. The reason is that it develops spiritual awareness and that might be even more important than someone giving you this information.

In your family circle there are those that you feel a great rapport with. These are your gifts from past lifetimes where you earned the right to have this support. In a sense you might look upon them as your angels. These were individuals that you served and they agreed to come back and support you now. Make a list of their names and connect with them when you need advice and comfort and yes even direction.

Now there are those who offer challenges to you. Make a list of their names and these are the ones that you need to find a way of meeting on a common ground of understanding. These are the ones that you have unfinished business with. When you suffer through a challenge with these people, review the moment and decide what emotion was destructive in the meeting. This is not hard to find as it could be anger, impatience, or a sense of betrayal and lack of support, or control or domination. Once you have found the means of the emotional upset, then you know what your obligation is to this person and what must be healed.

Rather than giving you the name of an individual, it is much more helpful to show you how to heal the relationships and this is exactly what you will be doing by going through this exercise. So this will take determination on your part and record keeping, but we tell you that if you do this you will heal every issue that you came into this lifetime to heal. The Cherubim
